

Dr Tarekegn Hiwot is Consultant in Inherited Metabolic Disorders at the University Hospital of Birmingham, the UK.

He leads the adult national Alstrom syndrome service based in Birmingham. The centre has become a fast growing transitional research and clinical trials excellence. He currently serves on the Clinical and Training Committee of a number of National and International societies.

Dr Hiwot main research interest focus on Insulin Resistance and its attendant complications in Alstrom syndrome.